We only source from suppliers who can provide required documentation for product standards, and child labor is the first thing that would ensure a supplier would never be considered for our customers. Few products exported by India & China require mandatory standards & certification from government; we will ensure to get them.

We deal with a sample and with companies having the right product, or if new, similar products. This alone makes a great difference. The sample and specification become the agreement.

Where agreed, we have the items inspected independently before shipment, which adds to peace of mind. There is always risk, but from experience, most issues occur where the specification is either not clear enough, or a client retrospectively introduces a technical or packing detail that they assumed everyone knows.

PAYMENT TERMS

Before we get into an agreement with our customer, we first need to verify their credentials. Once we have established this and signed all relevant contracts between the Buyer/Supplier, the usual terms are to make a 30% deposit to the factory/factories for the goods. The balance is then paid once goods have passed our quality control checks and delivered and ready for export. Upon receipt of B/L copy, we will ask our customer to pay the remaining 70% payment after receiving the scan copy of Bill of Lading.

RECOMMENDED PAYMENT TERM

Our recommended payment term is 100% L/C at Sight, which is safe & secure payment term between Importer & Exporter.

The supplier will have to pay more attention to our requests if he has spent 70% of his sale price to buy raw materials and components when he has only received a 30% deposit from us. This also offers us leverage for any future negotiations. We shall never pay the remainder until the quality is confirmed after product inspection.

Doing business in USA is very challenging due to its geographical location, business and culture barriers. This is why it's so important to work with a trusted, experienced, professional contractor who will look after your interests.

We are very contemporary and never compromise on quality & services which we provide to our business associates. We are a group of dynamic & highly professional people backed by the experience & endeavours of our highly skilled business associates.
